WHAT'S ON: Wednesday, January 21, 2015 — 18:00 - 20:00

Nervous Banks and Shed-Loads of Debt: Solving Financial Dilemmas In International Investors Market

The next 'Birkbeck In The City' event will take place on 21st January at 6pm (until about 8pm). The speaker will be Rick Martin, Group Treasurer, GasLog.

This talk is about bonds and maturities and will be of interest to those students who wish to have an understanding of the financial principles and techniques that underpin treasury and corporate financial management.

As one of the largest non-state shippers of liquefied natural gas [LNG], GasLog have tapped both the bank and Norwegian Bond markets, as well as making extensive use of hedging instruments. The talk will be followed by a wine and cheese reception.

Venue: 28 Russell Square, Room G03

Thursday, February 5, 2015 — 19:00 - 20:00

Launching Your Career In The City: Smart Job Hunting In The London Financial Markets.

EFS welcomes Paul McCormick, Head of Graduate Recruitment at Thomson Reuters.

The workshop will give students a practical insight into most efficient ways to launch their finance careers, including discussing sectors of the financial markets that students may not have considered.

Paul will also be talking about the companies that exist in this space and how to approach them. If you are in the midst of your applications for internships and graduate schemes, this event is not to be missed.

Venue: Malet Street Room TBC.

QUESTION: Would you come to an event on Behavioural Economics?

YES: I would attend an academic talk about a field that is supposedly revolutionising economics.

NO: Rational agent framework is robust enough to handle all manner of behavioral modifications, from social preferences to bounded rationality.
